Dear Mr. Eddy:

Congratulations are extended to you and your colleagues in forming a new friends of Mineralogy Chapter. It is the regional chapters that serve as a focus for many of the successful projects that the organization has undertaken. Annual symposiums are one vehicle that can be used to exchange ideas and have visibility for a growing membership. You might also consider a chapter newsletter. I would be happy to supply you with examples from other chapters or lend you any other type of assistance.

To facilitate inclusion of the Indiana Chapter into the national organization, could you send me a list of your officers, members, and their addresses. Also, for the next newsletter, could you prepare a article on how the chapter was formed and what projects/meetings you have in mind? It does not have to be too long.

Sincerely,

Ray Lasmanis
President
